SUMMARY REPORT

ARCHITECTURAL/HISTORIC SURVEY OF ROUTE 66 IN MISSOURI Project No. 29-92-70127-220-A

This report was prepared in partial fulfillment of an HPF grant from the Missouri Department of Natural Resources for an architectural and historic resource survey. The purpose of the survey project was to identify and evaluate the roadside resources directly related to travel and tourism along Route 66 in Missouri. Under the criteria established for the project, the survey was to document those buildings, structures, sites and objects directly associated with Route 66 in the counties of St. Louis, Franklin, Crawford, Phelps, Pulaski, Laclede, Webster, Greene, Lawrence, Jasper, and the city of St. Louis, including all alignments designated during the highway's period of significance.

With the approval of the granting agency, the project was amended in April of 1993 to include the city of St. Louis and only five of the ten counties originally proposed for inclusion. The specifics of the amended project are described below.

Criteria for Evaluation:

Following some preliminary field work and research, the project consultant and Route 66 Association assembled a list of 266 resources (or 233 individual sites) in September of 1992 which were determined to meet the four criteria established for the purposes of this survey. Using the Secretary of Interior's Criteria for Evaluation as a standard, the list of survey resources included:

1. A building, structure, site, or object which was designed or used to serve the travel trade on U.S. Route 66 and was constructed between the years 1926 - 1955.
2. A building, structure, site or object which may be eligible for individual National Register listing.
3. A building, structure, site or object which contributes to the highway corridor's sense of time and place and historical development and may therefore be a contributing resource in a National Register district.
4. A building, structure, site or object which is necessary to fully develop and evaluate the highway's historic context or associated property types.

To avoid duplication, bridges and other previously surveyed sites along the route were not included in this project. Also excluded from the survey were natural landscape features, as well as the road itself; associated elements, such as culverts, guard rails, curbing and other small-scale roadside artifacts were likewise omitted.

Phase II Methodology:

Following submission of the research design, three extended field trips were made by the consultant between October 1 and December 24 of 1992. In the course of those trips, the consultant visited the Franklin, Lawrence, Jasper, Greene and St. Louis county offices for legal descriptions, ownership records, and other building and engineering data, as well as local museums, historical societies and libraries for general historical and business information. Where possible, and as time allowed, current owners were contacted by phone or direct visit, and referrals sought for other long-time residents who might have some knowledge of area history. These personal contacts were generally the most fruitful sources of information, particularly in the rural areas of southwest Missouri. They also provided information on some locally significant sites not identified by the consultant, thus expanding the final list by another 52 sites.

John Bradbury, Senior Manuscripts Specialist with the Western Historical Manuscripts Collection at the University of Missouri in Rolla, made similar visits to Webster, Laclede, Phelps and Crawford counties, compiling sufficient information to complete survey forms for Webster and Phelps counties. Esley Hamilton, Preservation Historian with the St. Louis County Department of Parks and Recreation, also assisted in the records search for properties in his area. Records collected for Crawford and Laclede counties were not sufficient to complete any survey forms, and only one form was completed for Pulaski County.

Amended Scope of Project:

Recognizing the shortfall, the consultant and Association amended the original contract with the Department of Natural Resources in April of 1993. Under the amended contract, the consultant was required to produce 150 survey forms, thus completing the inventory of sites in St. Louis City and Franklin, Phelps, Webster, Lawrence and Jasper counties. A total of 173 forms have, in fact, been completed and submitted to the Association with this report.

As required by contract, the consultant also prepared an annotated list of all identified properties associated with historic Route 66 in Missouri to date by county (see Exhibit A). The list gives the name of each resource, with an assigned reference number (based on the State-assigned county code system, and generally reading in ascending order from east to west), address or specific location, roll/frame number of the accompanying photograph, and an indication as to whether or not a survey form has been completed for the site.

All sites have been located on county road maps, labelled, and keyed to the assigned reference number. Photographs of all identified resources have been similarly keyed and labelled.

Preliminary Results:

Within the five counties inventoried under the amended contract, 124 sites were identified, and 147 forms created.¹ In addition, 22 forms were created for St. Louis County, three for Greene County, and one for Pulaski County, bringing the total number of survey forms completed and submitted to 173.

Of the remaining resources, there are 105 sites identified and approximately 144 more forms yet to be completed in Laclede, Crawford, Greene, Pulaski and St. Louis counties.

Preliminary Assessment:

Even in its amended state, this survey has generated information on a number of important properties and resource types along the highway corridor in Missouri.

As a function of how the project was structured, most of those resources included in the survey were buildings. Because so many of them were designed to serve multiple functions, it is difficult to precisely quantify survey results by type. Nevertheless, the following is offered as a brief and very generalized overview of the various building types identified and surveyed (or not yet surveyed), their disbursement, and their potential eligibility for National Register designation, based on the Secretary of Interior's Criteria for Evaluation and Criteria Considerations (National Register Bulletin #16).

Categorized by property type, the recommendations are for individual, multiple, or thematic designation; it is expected that these recommendations will change or expand as further survey work and context development is completed. Some comments on potentially eligible historic and cultural landscape districts are also offered at the end of the report.

PROPERTY TYPE: GARAGE/FILLING STATION

In terms of individual building types, garages and filling stations are clearly the predominant remaining resource along the highway in areas surveyed, particularly in Jasper County where a full 20 of 33 sites are directly related to auto service. There is also a full range of architectural styles and types represented along the highway. Surveyed properties which should be considered for NR designation, either individually or as part of a thematic nomination, are:

¹ The "surplus" was created in instances where there was more than one resource located on a site, and they differed significantly in appearance or function from one another.

Ozark Trail Garage (SS.002)
Shelby Filling Station (SS.003)
Marty Filling Station (SS.005)
Ritter Motor Company (FR.016)
Scott's Welding (FR.026)
Hwy. 266 garage (LA.012)
Hwy. 266 garage (LA.014)
D.L. Morris Garage (LA.018)
Butler prefabricated garage (JP.007)
Rex Smith Gas Station (GR.028)

Buildings for which survey forms are not yet completed but may also warrant consideration are:

Slab rock garage (SL.021)
Skelly Gas Station (LC.017)
Phillips 66 Gas Station (CR.009)
Helfrecht Pawnshop (GR.027)
Moore's Filling Station (GR.032)
O'Dell Gas Station (GR.034)
False-front rock garage (GR.037)
Hillcrest Groceries and Filling Station (PU.022)

PROPERTY TYPE: COTTAGE COURTS, TOURIST HOMES, HOTELS AND MOTELS

In terms of numbers, cabin and cottage courts were the second most prevalent building type surveyed along Route 66. The largest concentration of surveyed resources was in Franklin County; in areas not yet surveyed, Greene County possesses the greatest and most distinctive collection of cabin and cottage courts.

Especially in isolated rural locations, a cottage or cabin court was frequently developed in conjunction with a filling station, garage, cafe, general store, or campground, in any and all combinations. At the extreme, these were small, self-contained, all-service roadside "communities" that served both the local and travelling population. Throughout the state, only two such cluster types retain sufficient integrity to be considered potentially eligible for NR designation:

Benson's Modern Cabins (FR.020)
Shady Side Camp (LA..027)

Smaller operations typically had a cafe or filling station on premises, often part of an attached office or residence for the owner/operator. In surveyed counties, the best examples of this type include:

Abbylee Court (WB.001)
White's Court (JP.009)

In areas not surveyed, the smaller cabin or cottage courts that may be eligible for NR designation, either individually or as part of a thematic nomination, are:

Village Oaks (LC.003)
Wagon Wheel Motel (CR.008)
Otto's Motel Courts (GR.003)
Ted's Motor Court (GR.004)
Lurvey's Motel (GR.005)
Trail's End Motel (GR.010)
Glenstone Cottage Court (GR.014)
Rockwood Court & Cafe (GR.018)
Rock Fountain Court (GR.021)
Bell-Haven Court (PU.021)

The final category of lodging included in this survey is the motel, hotel, or tourist home. Typically a private house offering one or more bedrooms for the night, the tourist home would be difficult to discern today by sight alone, as the building would likely be converted back to residential use by now. In any case, only one example of this latter type was discovered in Lebanon (LC.008).

The other single-structure types, however, are more readily recognizable. Hotels predate the era of automotive travel as a type and, in this survey, were prominently sited at downtown locations along City Route 66. Motels, on the other hand, were more often located on the growing fringes of the urban center. Designed specifically for travel trade, they typically stood only one story tall, offering the advantage of ready access to an automobile parked just outside the door. By the 1940's, the motel had become the standard for roadside lodging and, during that decade, many cottage camps were "upgraded" and individual units were joined under a single roofline to satisfy the prevailing taste for linked units and continuous facades. Several examples of this pattern still stand on Watson Road in the St. Louis suburb of Marlborough.

Examples of all three single-structure types that have been surveyed and may merit NR consideration are:

Sunset Motel (FR.006)
Hotel Edwin Long (PH.009)
Boots Motel (JP.010)
Royal Heights Apartments (JP.022)
Kentwood Arms Motor Hotel (GR.016)

Among those not yet surveyed but which may also merit consideration are:

Lenz Homotel (LC.008)
Shamrock Motel (CR.001)

PROPERTY TYPE: RESTAURANTS, CAFES AND ROADSIDE STANDS

As a building type, there are very few representative examples of eating establishments directly associated with Route 66 in Missouri. To some extent, this is a function of the criteria that were used to formulate the master list of survey sites. In town centers, for instance, it was not easy to distinguish a travel-oriented restaurant from the locally-oriented business. Within that gray zone, a few roadside eateries not included in this survey may warrant further consideration at some future time.

Of the eating establishments identified in the areas surveyed, however, the following institutions have a strong and colorful association with the highway and may each be individually eligible for landmark designation:

Red Cedar Inn (SL.019)
The Diamonds (FR.005)
Bennett's Catfish Cafe (PH.023)

PROPERTY TYPE: STORES AND CURIO SHOPS

In addition to the basic necessities of travel -- gas, food and lodging -- business operators found a ready market for souvenirs and handicrafts among the travellers they served in the thirties and forties, thanks to a growing national interest in regional arts and crafts. By all accounts, very few of the businesses along the highway were limited to just one service or product. Gas stations and cafes, for instance, often carried a side line of trinkets or craft items at an inside counter or roadside display.

As a separate and distinct building type, the curio shop in Missouri was typically located in a wood frame building, residence or shed. Mineral specimens, hickory baskets, wooden bowls, pottery, quilts and other "native handicraft articles" were the most common commodities sold. Of the few curio shops still standing, most are so altered or deteriorated that they no longer maintain sufficient material integrity to be eligible for NR designation. One of them is still nearly intact and, located in a motel cluster just a few miles west of Rolla, may be eligible for NR designation:

Gasser's Tourist Court (PH.016)

Also potentially eligible as a general store type is a building not yet surveyed:

Gascozark Store (PU.025)

PROPERTY TYPES: LANDSCAPE RESOURCES

One highly significant designed landscape resource was identified during the course of this survey, the Henry Shaw Gardenway. A 30-mile linear landscape, the Gardenway was designed in the 1930's to connect the Shaw Arboretum in Gray Summit with the city of St. Louis. On the site of the Arboretum grounds is a visitor's center. Along with two contributing resources included in this survey, these resources may together be eligible for NR designation as part of a multiple property nomination. They are:

Allenton Road bus shelter (SL.018)

Jensen Point Scenic Overlook (SL.020)

PROPERTY TYPES: OTHER

Other resources identified in the survey include a bus stop, three drive-in movie theaters, a skating rink, and a number of assorted commercial structures. None of these resources are considered individually eligible for NR designation, although further research and context development may suggest otherwise.

HISTORIC AND CULTURAL LANDSCAPE DISTRICTS

Under National Register guidelines, a historic district is "a geographically definable area -- urban or rural, large or small -- possessing a significant concentration, linkage, or continuity of sites, buildings, structures, and/or objects united by past events or aesthetically by plan or physical development." As opposed to single site designation -- where a building or resource stands individually upon its own merit -- district designation recognizes the total design of an area. In a district, it is the relationship of the parts that helps "weave the visual tapestry of the neighborhood." And although the quality of the parts may vary, their relationship to each other remains collectively homogeneous, conveying a sense of locality and place that helps to identify the area.²

Within the highway corridor there are a number of areas which may be potentially eligible for historic district designation. Among those surveyed are:

² William J. Murtagh, Keeping Time: The History and Theory of Preservation in America (Pittstown, NJ: The Main Street Press, 1988), p. 108.

Village of Rosati (PH.001)
Town of Halltown (LA.001 - 010)
Crossroads community at Paris Springs Junction (LA.012 - 014)
Commercial district at Spencer (LA.015)
Commercial center at Avilla (JP.004 - .006)
Village of Arlington (Meramec Regional Planning Commission survey, 1985)

Likewise, there are a number of areas where the landscape itself helps define the highway corridor. Over time, the natural landscape and the events and activities associated with it have become indistinguishable to us, the whole acquiring a new and different significance, apart from its mere physical appearance. By definition, this transformed landscape -- called a cultural landscape -- is "a tangible manifestation of human actions and beliefs set against and within the natural landscape."³ As is the case in many areas along Route 66, the landscape has become the sum of what we see, what we know, and what we feel about this very specific environment.

Because natural landscape features and elements associated with the road were not specifically included in this survey, and a context for the highway not yet established, suggestions regarding cultural landscape districts are merely speculative. Still, there are a number of areas which still maintain a strong sense of place, and where the landscape and associated resources reinforce our sense of setting, feeling, and association along the road:

In Phelps County, Martin Spring/Eisenhower Drive between Rolla and Doolittle (PH.010 - JP.015)

In Greene, Lawrence and Jasper counties, Highway 266 west of intersection with AB, and Highway 96 to Carthage (GR.037 and GR.038, LA.001 - LA.015, and JP.001 - JP.009)

In Jasper County, Old 66 Bypass through Central City (JP.030 - JP.033)

In Pulaski County, the Hooker Cut and Devils Elbow (PU.001 - JP.008)

In Pulaski and Laclede counties, Highway 17 from Buckhorn to Laquey ((PU.017 - PU.026) and the South Service Road from Hazelgreen to Lebanon (LC.001 - LC.007)

In Franklin County, Highway AT from Villa Ridge to St. Clair (FR.005 - FR.012)

In Laclede and Webster counties, Highway CC from Phillipsburg to Marshfield (WB.001 - WB.006)
